Planning and building our house with Paul McDonnell was an easy process.
Everything was smooth and transparent and Paul has always been patient and ready to quickly make changes when needed.
The result is a beautiful house that we are very happy to move into in a few days.

To whom it may concern

I found Paul McDonnell Homes while I was searching property via Trademe. After that I checked their web site and have seen that there are lot of good projects which they have been done in the past. Also few ongoing projects in McLintock street North. Johnsonville.

I contacted them and went to see those ongoing projects. Finally, I could able to finalize my first home in New Zealand with them for a reasonable price with good quality.

I would say, their service before and after sale is excellent. I definitely recommended them for any property construction as they are good quality, reliable and friendly builder.

Good Luck.....!!!

Thanks.....!!!!

To whom it concerns

Paul McDonnell from Paul McDonnell Homes Limited has built two of our family homes in Johnsonville, Wellington. The first was at 94 Cortina Avenue with construction starting in 2001 and successfully completed in 2002, which we lived in for 14 years. The second is our current home at 184 McLintock Street North. We have been living here since 24th June 2016.

With the Cortina Avenue build we found Paul and his team were great to work with. Any variations we made were dealt with promptly. Communication was active and positive between us and his team resulting in a great building experience for us.

When McLintock Street North was developed at the end of Cortina Ave the desire for us to build again started to set in. We didn't hesitate to approach Paul on this possibility. He bent over backwards to help us purchase a section. Paul and his current team then did a stellar job in building our current new home.

We were also especially impressed with Pauls work team taking the time and effort it took to get the job done with care and attention to detail requested by us the clients.

The saying goes that going through the process of building a family home can be stressful.

However, Paul McDonnell Homes made it easy for us. Twice! We wouldn't hesitate to have Paul and his team build our third home one day.
